

renounce

1. [rɪˈnaʊns] n карт.
ренонс
2. [rɪˈnaʊns] v
 1. отказываться
to renounce a title [a property] - отказаться от титула [от собственности] to renounce all claims - отказаться от всех претензий to renounce an idea - отказаться от идеи /от мысли/to renounce a treaty - дип. денонсировать договор
 2. не признавать; отвергать, отклонять to renounce smb.'s authority - не признавать чей-л. авторитет
 3. отрекаться
to renounce a son [the world] - отречься от сына [от мира]
to renounce one's errors - отречься /отказаться/ от своих заблуждений
 4. карт. делать ренонс

renounce

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

re-nounce [renounce renounces renounced renouncing] BrE [rɪˈnaʊns] ^u
NAmE [rɪˈnaʊns] ^u verb (formal)

1. ~ sth to state officially that you are no longer going to keep a title, position, etc.
Syn: ↑give up
 - to renounce a claim/title/privilege/right
 - Will Charles renounce the throne in favour of his son?
2. ~ sth to state publicly that you no longer have a particular belief or that you will no longer behave in a particular way
 - to renounce ideals/principles/beliefs, etc.
 - a joint declaration renouncing the use of violence
 - Many were executed for refusing to renounce their religion.
3. ~ sb/sth to state publicly that you no longer wish to have a connection with sb/sth because you disapprove of them
Syn: ↑disown
 - He had renounced his former associates.

see also ↑renunciation

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we / they	renounce
	BrE /rɪˈnaʊns/
	NAmE /rɪˈnaʊns/
he / she / it	renounces
	BrE /rɪˈnaʊnsɪz/NAmE /rɪˈnaʊnsɪz/
past simple, past participle	renounced
	BrE /rɪˈnaʊnst/
	NAmE /rɪˈnaʊnst/
-ing form	renouncing
	BrE /rɪˈnaʊnsɪŋ/
	NAmE /rɪˈnaʊnsɪŋ/

Word Origin:

late Middle English: from Old French renoncer, from Latin renuntiare 'protest against', from re- (expressing reversal) + nuntiare 'announce'.

Example Bank:

- The Prince has refused to renounce his right to the throne.
- He has formally renounced his claim to the throne.

renounce

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

re-nounce /rɪˈnaʊns/ BrE ^u AmE ^u verb [transitive]

[Date: 1300-1400; Language: Old French; Origin: renoncer, from Latin renuntiare, from nuntiare 'to report']

1. if you renounce an official position, title, right etc, you publicly say that you will not keep it any more SYN give up:
 - Edward renounced his claim to the French throne.
 - She renounced her citizenship.
2. to publicly say or show that you no longer believe in something, or will no longer behave in a particular way SYN reject ⇒

renunciation:

- These groups must renounce violence if there is to be progress towards peace.
- Young people renounced capitalism in favour of peace and love.

renounce

Freakuency Pack

12500 10005^{MCW}

15000 6694^{COCA}

RANGE: 8k RENOUNCE 1737

renounce 649

renounces 89
renounced 445
renouncing 201 renouncement 7 renouncements 0
renunciation 332
renunciations 14

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

430 31995⁴⁹⁷ vvi

141 61157¹⁵² vv0
