

tacit[ˈtæɪt] a

1. подразумеваемый, не выраженный словами; молчаливый tacit approval - молчаливое одобрение tacit consent /agreement/ - молчаливое согласие tacit acknowledgement [backing] - молчаливое признание [-ая поддержка]
to have a tacit understanding with smb. - понимать кого-л. без слов
2. 1) молчаливый, безмолвный tacit spectator - молчаливый зритель
2) безмолвный, не сопровождающийся словами tacit prayer - безмолвная молитва
3. неписанный (о законе и т. п.)

tacit

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

tacit BrE [ˈtæɪt] ^m NAmE [ˈtæɪt] ^m adjective usually before noun

that is suggested indirectly or understood, rather than said in words

- tacit approval/support/knowledge
 - By tacit agreement, the subject was never mentioned again.
- Derived Word ↑tacitly

Word Origin:[tacit tacitly] early 17th cent. (in the sense 'wordless, noiseless'): from Latin tacitus, past participle of tacere 'be silent'.tacit

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

ta cit /ˈtæɪt, ˈtæɪt/ BrE ^m AmE ^m adjective

[Date: 1600-1700; Language: French; Origin: tacite, from Latin tacitus, from tacere 'to be silent'] tacit agreement, approval, support etc is given without anything actually being said SYN unspoken: a tacit agreement between the three big companies—tacitly *adverbtacit

Freakuency Pack

12500 10104^{MCW}15000 7745^{COCA}RANGE: 8k TACIT 1261tacit ⁸⁶⁵tacitness ⁰tacitly ³⁹⁶

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

⁷³² 23082⁸⁶⁵ jj