depose

[dɪˈpəʊz] v

1. смещать; свергать, низлагать

   to depose a king (from the throne) - свергнуть короля (с престола)

   to depose a deputy - отзывать депутата deposed from one's self-possession - образн. выведенный из себя /из терпения/

2. юр.

1) свидетельствовать, давать письменные показания под присягой

   to depose to a fact - подтвердить (какой-л.) факт свидетельским показанием

   to depose that the house was locked - показать, что дом был заперт to depose against smb. - давать показания против кого-л.

2) редк. допрашивать (свидетеля) под присягой

3. утверждать

   to depose the contrary - настаивать на противном

---

depose

de·pose [depose deposes deposed deposing] BrE [dɪˈpəʊz] NAmE [dɪˈpoʊz] verb ~ sb

to remove sb, especially a ruler, from power

• The president was deposed in a military coup.

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we /they	depose
	BrE /dɪˈpəʊz/
	NAmE /dɪˈpoʊz/
he / she /it	deposes
	BrE /dɪˈpəʊzɪz/
	NAmE /dɪˈpoʊzɪz/
past simple, past participle	deposed BrE /dɪˈpəʊzd/
	NAmE /dɪˈpoʊzd/
-ing form	deposing
	BrE /dɪˈpəʊzɪŋ/
	NAmE /dɪˈpoʊzɪŋ/

Word Origin:

Middle English: from Old French deposer, from Latin deponere, from de- 'down' + ponere 'place', but influenced by Latin depositus and Old French poser 'to place'.

Example Bank:

• He joined a rebellion to depose the repressive regime.

• Rallies in support of the deposed president have been taking place across the country.

• The left-wing government was threatened and eventually deposed by a right-wing junta.

---

depose

de·pose /dɪˈpəʊz $ -ˈpoʊz/ BrE AmE verb [transitive]

[Date: 1200-1300; Language: French; Origin: déposer, from Latin deponere 'to put down]

to remove a leader or ruler from a position of power

---

depose

1250010664MCW

150004445COCA

RANGE: 8k DEPOSE 4006

  depose 180

  deposes 7

  deposed 670

  deposing 75

  deposition 2466

  depositions 608

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

  12660559155 vvi

  2515637025 vv0