

dissension[dɪˈsɛnʃ(ə)n] n

1. 1) разногласие; несогласие
- 2) раздор, вражда; трения
2. цѣрк. уст. раскол

dissension

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

dis·sen·sion [dɪsˈɛnʃən] BrE [dɪˈsɛnʃən] AmE [dɪˈsɛnʃən]noun uncountable (formal)

disagreement between people or within a group

- dissension within the government

Word Origin:Middle English: via Old French from Latin dissensio(n-), from the verb dissentire 'differ in sentiment'.Example Bank:

- The events led to dissension within the government

dissension

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

dis·sen·sion /dɪˈsɛnʃən/ BrE AmE noun [uncountable and countable] disagreement among a group of people

dissension in/within/between/among

- This move sowed dissension within the party ranks.
- The Labour Party was torn by internal dissensions.

dissension

Freakuency Pack

12500 10812<sup>MCW</sup>15000 12467<sup>COCA</sup>RANGE: 11k DISSENSION <sup>360</sup>dissension <sup>342</sup>dissensions <sup>18</sup>

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

<sup>309</sup> 39568<sup>342</sup> nn1