

hoarse[hɔːs] a

- 1) хриплый, сиплый; охрипший
to talk oneself hoarse - договориться до хрипоты
I am hoarse - я охрип
hoarse voice [sound] - хриплый голос [звук]
- 2) грубый, резкий, неприятный режущий слух hoarse storm - ревущая буря

hoarse

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

hoarse [hoarse hoarser hoarsest] BrE [hɔːs] NAmE [hɔːr] adjective

(of a person or voice) sounding rough and unpleasant, especially because of a sore throat

- He shouted himself hoarse.
- a hoarse cough/cry/scream
- His voice was hoarse with exhaustion.

Derived Words ↑hoarsely ▪ ↑hoarsenessWord Origin:Old English hās, of Germanic origin; related to Dutch hees. The spelling with r was influenced in Middle English by an Old Norse cognate.Thesaurus:hoarse adj.

- His voice was hoarse with exhaustion.

husky • • thick • |written guttural • |often disapproving harsh • • rough • • gruff • • raucous •Opp: mellow, Opp: softhoarse/husky/thick with stha hoarse/thick/guttural/hrash/rough/gruff/raucous voicea hoarse/husky/guttural/harsh/gruff/raucous laugha hoarse/husky/harsh/gruff whisperExample Bank:

- Excitement made her voice hoarse.
- He shouted himself hoarse, but still no one came.
- Her voice was hoarse from shouting.
- His voice was hoarse with anxiety.
- Her voice came out as a hoarse whisper.

hoarse

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

hoarse /hɔːs/ hɔːr BrE AmE adjective

[Language: Old English; Origin: has]

if you are hoarse, or if your voice is hoarse, you speak in a low rough voice, for example because your throat is sore:

He was hoarse from laughing.

hoarse voice/whisper/groan etc—hoarsely *adverb—hoarseness noun [uncountable]hoarse

Freakuency Pack

12500 11246^{MCW}15000 7829^{COCA}RANGE: 11k HOARSE 1230

hoarse 852

hoarseness 113

hoarsely 265

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

732 23300⁸⁵² jj