

canister[ˈkæɪnɪstə] n

1. чайница; банка для кофе, специй и т. п.
2. канистра; бачок, бидон
3. корзинка (для хлеба, цветов)
4. воен. коробка противогаса
5. = canister-shot

canister

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

can·is·ter [canister canisters] BrE [ˈkæɪnɪstə(r)] ^ˈ NAmE [ˈkæɪnɪstər] ^ˈ noun

1. a container with a lid for holding tea, coffee, etc.
2. a strong metal container containing gas or a chemical substance, especially one that bursts when it is fired from a gun or thrown
 - tear-gas canisters
3. a flat round metal container used for storing film
 - a film canister

Word Origin:late 15th cent. (denoting a basket): from Latin canistrum, from Greek kanastron ‘wicker basket’, from kanna ‘cane, reed’ kannē, of Semitic origin.Example Bank:

- Police fired tear-gas canisters at the demonstrators.

canister

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

can [ɪsɪtər] /ˈkæɪnɪstə, ˈkæɪnɪstə $ -ər/ BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ noun [countable][Date: 1400-1500; Language: Latin; Origin: canistrum ‘basket’, from Greek kanastron, from kanna; ⇨ ↑cane¹]

1. a round metal case that contains gas and bursts when it is thrown or fired from a gun:
 - Police fired tear gas canisters into the crowd.
2. a metal container for keeping something in:
 - a tea canister
 - a petrol canister

canister

Freakuency Pack

12500 11313^{MCW}15000 7509^{COCA}RANGE: 8k CANISTER 1354

canister 729

canisters 625

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

419 25920⁷¹⁴ *nn1*7 279161⁹ *jjr*5 354884⁶ nnu