August

[ˈɔːgəst] n
  август
    in August - в августе
    August days - августовские дни

August

Au·gust [August Augusts] BrE [ˈɔːəst]   NAmE [ˈɔːəst]   noun uncountable, countable (abbr. Aug.)
  the 8th month of the year, between July and September: (BrE) August Bank Holiday (= a public holiday on the last Monday in August in Britain) To see how August is used, look at the examples at April.

  Word Origin:
  Old English, from Latin augustus 'consecrated, venerable' ; named after Augustus, the first Roman emperor (63 BC-AD14).

August

Au gust /ˈɔːəs$ ˈɒ/ BrE   AmE   noun [uncountable and countable] (written abbreviation Aug.)
  [Date: 1000-1100; Language: Latin; Origin: Augustus, from Augustus Caesar (63BC - AD14), Roman emperor]
  the eighth month of the year, between July and September
    next/last August
        I was there last August.
    in August
        My birthday's in August.
    on August 6th
        The new store opened on August 6th.
    on 6th August British English:
        He arrived at Berwick on 6th August 1823.
    August 6 American English:
        We'll expect you to call August 6.

August

Au·gust [August Augusts] BrE [ˈɔːəst]   NAmE [ˈɔːəst]   noun uncountable,
countable (abbr. Aug.)
  the 8th month of the year, between July and September: (BrE) August Bank Holiday (= a public holiday on the last Monday in August in Britain) To see how August is used, look at the examples at April.