

- 1. [ri:k] n
- 1) вонь, дурной запах
kitchen reek - чад
the reek of stale tobacco [of stale beer] - застоявшийся табачный [пивной] дух
 - 2) духота; затхлость
amid reek and squalor of the slums - в духоте и грязи трущоб
 2. 1) шотл. дым
2) книжн. копоть
 3. пары, испарения (особ. вредные или неприятные)

- 2. [ri:k] v
1. (of)
1) дурно пахнуть; вонять (чем-л.) to reek of garlic [of sweat, of alcohol] - пахнуть чесноком [потом, спиртом]
his clothes reek of tobacco - его одежда пропахла /провоняла/ табаком he reeks of beer - от него разит пивом
 - 2) попахивать, отдавать (чем-л. дурным)
it reeks of murder - дело пахнет убийством
it reeks of affectation [of flattery] - это похоже на притворство [на лесть]
a neighbourhood that reeks of poverty - ≅ район неприкрытой нищеты
a man who reeks charm - человек, полный очарования
the book reeks with scraps of Latin - книга пестрит латинскими выражениями
 2. 1) дымить, куриться (об остатках пожара, трубе и пр.)
2) окуривать; коптить, покрывать копотью
3. дымиться (о кушанье и т. п.)

reek

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

reek [reek reeks reeked reeking] verb, noun BrE [ri:k] AmE [ri:k]

verb

- 1. intransitive ~ (of sth) to smell very strongly of sth unpleasant
• His breath reeked of tobacco.
- 2. intransitive ~ (of sth) (disapproving) to suggest very strongly that sth unpleasant or suspicious is involved in a situation
• Her denials reeked of hypocrisy.

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we / they	reek
	BrE /ri:k/
	NAme /ri:k/
he / she / it	reeks
	BrE /ri:ks/
	NAme /ri:ks/
past simple, past participle	reeked
	BrE /ri:kt/
	NAme /ri:kt/
-ing form	reeking
	BrE /ri:kiŋ/
	NAme /ri:kiŋ/

Word Origin:

Old English rēocan 'give out smoke or vapour', rēc (noun) 'smoke', of Germanic origin; related to Dutch rieken 'to smell', rook 'smoke', German riechen 'to smell', Rauch 'smoke'.

noun singular

a strong unpleasant smell

Syn: †stench

- the reek of cigarettes and beer

Word Origin:

Old English rēocan 'give out smoke or vapour', rēc (noun) 'smoke', of Germanic origin; related to Dutch rieken 'to smell', rook 'smoke', German riechen 'to smell', Rauch 'smoke'.

Example Bank:

- The reek of gunpowder and smoke grew stronger.
- There was a permanent reek of decaying food in the cupboards.

reek

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

reek /ri:k BrE AmE verb [intransitive]

[Language: Old English; Origin: reocan]

to have a strong bad smell SYN stink

This room absolutely reeks.

reek of

" He reeked of sweat.

—reek noun [singular]:

" the reek of cigarettes and beer

reek of something phrasal verb

to seem very clearly to have a particular quality or be connected with something bad:

" The whole business reeks of dishonesty.

reek

Freakuency Pack

12500 11761^{MCW}

15000 8196^{COCA}

RANGE: 8k REEK 1109

reek 303

reeks 237

reeked 318

reeking 251

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

164 55846¹⁸¹ nn1

75 85696⁷⁹ vv0

42 117370⁴³ vvi
