  Word Origin:

  late 16th cent.: from Italian complire, Catalan complir, Spanish cumplir, from Latin complere 'fill up, fulfil', from com- (expressing intensive force) + plere 'fill'. The original sense was 'fulfil, accomplish', later 'fulfil the requirements of courtesy', hence 'to be agreeable, to oblige ' or ' obey'. Compare with ↑compliment.

  Example Bank:

  • When requested to leave, they refused to comply.

  • What sanctions can they take against us if we fail to comply?
