bas-tard [bastard bastards] BrE ['bɑːstɑːd] BrE ['bæstəd] NAmE ['bæstərd]*noun*1. (taboo, slang) used to insult sb, especially a man, who has been rude, unpleasant or cruel

• He's a real bastard.

• You bastard! You've made her cry.

2. (BrE, slang) a word that some people use about or to sb, especially a man, who they feel very jealous of or sorry for

• What a lucky bastard!

• You poor bastard!

3. (BrE, slang) used about sth that causes difficulties or problems

• I t's a bastard of a problem.

4. (old-fashioned, disapproving) a person whose parents were not married to each other when he or she was bornWord Origin:Middle English: via Old French from medieval Latin bastardus, probably from bastum 'packsaddle', a horse's saddle used to support loads; compare with Old French fil de bast, literally 'packsaddle son' (i.e. the son of a mule driver who uses a packsaddle for a pillow and is gone by morning).Example Bank:

- He's a complete bastard.
- The poor little bastard!
- You lucky bastard! I wish I was going on holiday too.
- Your boss is a bit of a bastard, isn't he?
- You bastard! You've made her cry.
