

submission[səb'mɪʃ(ə)n] n

1. подчинение

compulsory [unconditional] submission - принудительное [безоговорочное] подчинение to refuse submission - отказаться покориться /сдаться/

the rebels made their submission to the army - мятежники сдались войскам

2. покорность, повиновение, смирение

humble submission - смиренная покорность mute [complete] submission - молчаливое [полное] повиновение with all due submission - с глубоким уважением (к мнению и т. п.)

3. представление, подача (документов)

the submission of a passport for inspection - предъявление паспорта для проверки

the submission of proof of identity - представление доказательств для установления личности

I demand the submission of the signature to an expert - я настаиваю на передаче этой подписи на экспертизу

4. юр.

1) передача на рассмотрение

submission to arbitration - соглашение о передаче спора на разрешение третейского суда

2) мнение; утверждение; заявление; довод, аргумент

my submission is that ... - я утверждаю, что ...

in my submission - по моему мнению

submission

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

sub-mis-sion AW [submission submissions] BrE [səb'mɪʃn] AmE [səb'mɪʃn]

noun

1. uncountable the act of accepting that sb has defeated you and that you must obey themSyn: ↑surrender

• a gesture of submission

• to beat/force/starve sb into submission

• His response was one of resistance, not submission.

2. uncountable, countable the act of giving a document, proposal, etc. to sb in authority so that they can study or consider it; the document, etc. that you give

• When is the final date for the submission of proposals?

• They prepared a report for submission to the council.

• The deadline is 1 October and late submissions will not be marked.

• All parties will have the opportunity to make submissions relating to this case.

• Many diploma courses require the submission of a project.

3. countable (law) a statement that is made to a judge in courtWord Origin:late Middle English: from Old French, or from Latin missio(n-), from the verb mittere, from sub- 'under' + mittere 'send, put'.Example Bank:

• Send submissions via email to the editor.

• The Society invites submissions for a special issue.

• The agency got 15 submissions from 11 countries.

• The companies have made a joint submission to the minister.

• The emperor demanded total submission from his subjects.

• The judge upheld the defendant's submission and quashed his conviction.

• The university is setting up a website to allow electronic submission of manuscripts.

• They bombed the town into submission.

• We welcome submissions from writers and reviewers

• We're looking for new submissions.

• the patient's submission to the demands of the hospital

• All parties will be able to make submissions relating to the case at a later date.

• Detailed submissions were received from regional councils.

• Late submissions will not be marked.

• The document formed part of a submission to the European Parliament.

• When is the date for the submission of proposals?

submission

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

sub-mis-sion AC [səb'mɪʃən] BrE AmE noun[Word Family: noun: ↑submission, ↑submissiveness; verb: ↑submit; adverb: ↑submissively; adjective: ↑submissive][Date: 1400-1500; Language: Old French; Origin: Latin, from mittere; ⇨ ↑submit]1. [uncountable] the state of being completely controlled by a person or group, and accepting that you have to obey them force/frighten/beat etc somebody into submission

* Napoleon threatened to starve the country into submission.

in submission

* His head was bowed in submission.

2. [uncountable and countable] when you give or show something to someone in authority, for them to consider or approve:

- " The deadline for the submission of proposals is May 1st.
" Plans were drawn up for submission to the housing council.
" Submissions will not be accepted after May.
3. [uncountable] formal an opinion or thought that you state SYN view :
" It is important, in my submission, that a wider view of the matter be taken.
4. [countable] law a request or suggestion that is given to a judge for them to consider

submission

Freakuency Pack

12500 4258^{MCW}

15000 5804^{COCA}

RANGE: 5k SUBMISSION ²³¹⁷

submission ¹⁷⁰⁸

submissions ⁶⁰⁹

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

1294 14962¹⁷⁰³ nn1

3 406422⁵ nnu
