

ink1. [ɪŋk] n

1. 1) чернила

indelible [invisible /sympathetic/] ink - несмываемые [симпатические] чернила

a drawing in Indian ink - рисунок тушью

to write in ink /with pen and ink/ - писать чернилами

2) полигр. типографская краска (мж. printer's ink)

2. чёрная жидкость, выделяемая каракатицей

◇ as black as ink - ≅ чёрный как смоль

black ink - ком. а) положительное сальдо; прибыль; доход; б) безубыточность или прибыльность (операций)red ink - а) отрицательное сальдо; задолженность (фирмы); б) убыточность (операций)

budgetary red ink - бюджетный дефицит

the concern shifted from red ink to black - предприятие превратилось из убыточного в прибыльное

2. [ɪŋk] v1) метить или обводить чернилами (мж. ink in) to ink in a drawing - обвести чернилами рисунок, нанесённый карандашом

2) пачкать чернилами

to ink one's fingers - запачкать пальцы чернилами

3) полигр. покрывать краской

to ink up - закатывать краской

ink

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

ink [ɪŋk inks inked inking] noun, verb BrE [ɪŋk] ^ˈ NAmE [ɪŋk] ^ˈnoun uncountable, countable

coloured liquid for writing, drawing and printing

- written in ink
- a pen and ink drawing
- different coloured inks

see also ↑inkyWord Origin:Middle English enke, inke, from Old French enque, via late Latin from Greek enkauston, denoting the purple ink used by Roman emperors for signatures, from enkaiein 'burn in'.Example Bank:

- Allow the ink to dry.
- Be careful. The ink is still wet.
- He wrote very neatly in blue ink.
- Most people now use ballpoints rather than ink.
- The drawback of this printer is that the ink tends to smudge.
- There were several alterations in ink.
- We need to replace the ink cartridge in the printer.

Derived ↑ink something inverb*1. ~ sth to cover sth with ink so that it can be used for printing2. ~ sth (NAmE, informal) to sign a document, especially a contract

- The group has just inked a $10 million deal.

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we / they	ink
	BrE /ɪŋk/
	NAmE /ɪŋk/
he / she / it	inks
	BrE /ɪŋks/
	NAmE /ɪŋks/
past simple, past participle	inked
	BrE /ɪŋkt/
	NAmE /ɪŋkt/
-ing form	inking
	BrE /ɪŋkɪŋ/
	NAmE /ɪŋkɪŋ/

Word Origin:Middle English enke, inke, from Old French enque, via late Latin from Greek enkauston, denoting the purple ink used by Roman emperors for signatures, from enkaiein 'burn in'.

ink¹ /ɪŋk/ BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ noun

[Date: 1200-1300; Language: Old French; Origin: enque, from Late Latin encaustum, from Greek enkaiein 'to burn in']

1. [uncountable and countable] a coloured liquid that you use for writing, printing, or drawing:

Please write in black ink.

2. [uncountable] the black liquid in sea creatures such as ↑octopuses and ↑squid ink² BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ verb [transitive]

1. to put ink on something

2. to make a document, agreement etc official and legal by writing your ↑signature on it:

The two companies have inked a deal.

ink something ↔ in phrasal verb

to complete something done in pencil by drawing over it in ink

ink

Freakuency Pack

12500 4580^{MCW}

15000 3870^{COCA}

RANGE: 4k INK 5264

ink 4537

inks 357

inky 366

inkier 4

inkiest 0

inkiness 0

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

2739 7609⁴⁵¹⁰ nn1

7 251092¹¹ np1

8 263449¹⁰ vv0

6 350885⁶ vvi