

orthodox

1. [ˈɔːθədɒks] n

- 1. ортодокс; человек, твёрдо придерживающийся общепринятого убеждения, учения, направления
- 2. (Orthodox) рел. православный
- 3. приверженец традиции, консерватор

2. [ˈɔːθədɒks] a

- 1. ортодоксальный; правоверный
orthodox beliefs - канонические вероучения
- 2. традиционный общепринятый orthodox opinions [views] - общепринятые мнения [взгляды]
orthodox dinner - традиционный обед orthodox greeting - традиционное приветствие
- 3. (Orthodox) рел. православный

orthodox

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

ortho·dox BrE [ˈɔːθədɒks] NAmE [ˈɔːrθədɒks] adjective

1. (especially of beliefs or behaviour) generally accepted or approved of; following generally accepted beliefs

Syn: ↑traditional

- orthodox medicine
- He is very orthodox in his views.

Opp: ↑unorthodox

compare ↑heterodox

2. following closely the traditional beliefs and practices of a religion

- an orthodox Jew

3. Orthodox belonging to or connected with the ↑Orthodox Church

Word Origin:

[orthodox] late Middle English: from Greek orthodoxos (probably via ecclesiastical Latin), from orthos 'straight' or 'right' + doxa 'opinion'.

Example Bank:

- I am not a very orthodox kind of counsellor.
- This is the strictly orthodox view.
- At that time the orthodox view was that secondary education should be selective.
- He pioneered what was to become the orthodox mode of social research.
- More orthodox scholars scoff at such theories.
- There is increasing cooperation between alternative and orthodox medicine.
- They presented a challenge to the more orthodox political parties.

orthodox

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

ortho·dox /ˈɔːθədɒks/ BrE AmE adjective

[Date: 1500-1600; Language: French; Origin: orthodoxe, from Late Latin, from Late Greek orthodoxos, from Greek ortho- (from orthos 'straight, correct') + doxa 'opinion']

1. orthodox ideas, methods, or behaviour are accepted by most people to be correct and right SYN conventional :

- orthodox medical treatments
- He challenged the orthodox views on education.

2. someone who is orthodox has the opinions and beliefs that are generally accepted as being right, and does not have new or different ideas:

- Orthodox economists believe that a recession is now inevitable.
- an orthodox Marxist

3. believing in all the traditional beliefs, laws, and practices of a religion:

- an orthodox Jew
- . . .

THESAURUS

■ believing in a religion

- religious believing strongly in a religion and obeying its rules: My father was a very religious man. | Are you religious?
- devout having a very strong belief in a religion: a devout Catholic
- orthodox believing in the traditional beliefs, laws, and practices of a religion: orthodox Jews

orthodox

Freakuency Pack

12500 5484^{MCW}

15000 3819^{COCA}

RANGE: 5k ORTHODOX⁵⁴¹⁹

orthodox ⁴⁶⁷⁴

unorthodox ⁷⁴⁵

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

1963 7438⁴⁶⁶⁹ jj

2 415410⁵ np1