

pine

I

1. [paɪn] n
 1. 1) бот. сосна (Pinus)
 - 2) сосновая древесина
 2. обыкн. поэт. изделие из сосновой древесины
 3. разг. см. pineapple
2. [paɪn] a
 - 1) сосновый
pine land - амер. район, поросший сосновым лесом
 - 2) хвойный
pine bath - хвойная ванна

II

- [paɪn] v
1. 1) чахнуть, томиться, изнывать, иссыхать, изнемогать (тж. pine away)
to pine (away) with hunger [thirst] - изнывать от голода [жажды]
to pine with grief - иссыхать от горя to pine away to skin and bone - ≅ остались кожа да кости abandoned by her lover she pined away - она увяла /зачахла/, покинутая любимым
 - 2) жаловаться, сетовать
they were moaning and pining - они сетовали и стонали
 2. (for, after) жаждать (чего-л.), тосковать (по чему-л.) to pine after smb. to see - жаждать увидеть кого-л.
he is pining for home [for family] - он тоскует по дому /родине/ [семье]
 3. арх. оплакивать
to pine a loss - оплакивать потерю
 4. усыхать
to use timber after pining - использовать древесину после сушки

pine

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

pine [paɪn paɪns paɪnd paɪnɪŋ] noun, verb BrE [paɪn] [ⓘ] NAme [paɪn] [ⓘ]

noun

1. countable, uncountable (also 'pine tree countable) an ↑evergreen forest tree with leaves like needles
 - pine forests
 - pine needles
 - a Scots pine
2. (also pine-wood) uncountable the pale soft wood of the pine tree, used in making furniture, etc
 - a pine table

Word Origin:

n. Old English Latin pinus Middle English Old French pin
v. Old English pīnian '(cause to) suffer' Germanic Dutch pijnen German peinen 'experience pain' pine 'punishment' Latin poena 'punishment'
Derived ↑pine away ▪ ↑pine for somebody verb intransitive

to become very sad because sb has died or gone away

- She pined for months after he'd gone.

Verb forms:

verb forms
present simple
I / you / we /they	pine
	BrE /paɪn/
	NAme /paɪn/
he / she /it	pires
	BrE /paɪnz/
	NAme /paɪnz/
past simple, past participle	pined
	BrE /paɪnd/
	NAme /paɪnd/
-ing form	pining
	BrE /paɪnɪŋ/
	NAme /paɪnɪŋ/

Word Origin:

n. Old English Latin pinus Middle English Old French pin
v. Old English pīnian '(cause to) suffer' Germanic Dutch pijnen German peinen 'experience pain' pine 'punishment' Latin poena 'punishment'

Example Bank:

• The Major's dog pined badly when her master died.

See also: ↑pinewood

pine

I. pine¹ /paɪn/ BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ noun

[Date: 1000-1100; Language: Latin; Origin: pinus]

- 1. [uncountable and countable] (also pine tree) a tall tree with long hard sharp leaves that do not fall off in winter:
an ancient pine forest
- 2. [uncountable] the pale wood of pine trees, used to make furniture, floors etc:
a pine table

II. pine² BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ verb [intransitive]

[Language: Old English; Origin: pinian, from pin 'punishment', from Latin poena; ⇨ ↑pain¹]

to become sad and not continue your life as normal because someone has died or gone away:

Six months after he left, she was still pining.

pine away phrasal verb

to become less active, weaker, and often ill, especially because you miss someone who has died or gone away

pine for somebody/something phrasal verb

- 1. if you pine for a place or for something, you miss it a lot and wish you could be there or have it again:
After two months in France I was pining for home.
- 2. if you pine for someone, you feel very unhappy because they are not with you:
Karen had been pining for her friends back home in Colorado.

pine

12500 6301^{MCW}

15000 2618^{COCA}

RANGE: 6k PINE ¹¹⁴¹⁴

pine ⁸⁵⁵⁶

pines ²⁵⁷⁶

piney ²⁸²

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

4394 4893⁷⁸⁸⁰ nn1

300 34640⁴³³ np1

110 69258¹¹⁹ vv0

82 81566⁸⁷ vvi

27 127729³⁷ jj