

therapeutic1. [ˌθerəˈpjʊ:tɪk] n

1. терапевт, врач

2. лекарство

to develop a new therapeutic - разработать новый лекарственный препарат

2. [ˌθerəˈpjʊ:tɪk] a

терапевтический, лечебный

therapeutic dose - лечебная доза

to have therapeutic value - обладать лечебным /целебным/ действием

therapeutic

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

therapeut-ic BrE [ˌθerəˈpjʊtɪk] NAme [ˌθerəˈpjʊtɪk] *adjective*1. usually before noun designed to help treat an illness

• the therapeutic properties of herbs

2. helping you to relax

• Painting can be very therapeutic.

Derived Word †therapeuticallyWord Origin:[therapeutic therapeutically] mid 17th cent.: via modern Latin from Greek therapeutikos, from therapeuein 'minister to, treat medically'.Example Bank:

• I find listening to music very therapeutic.

therapeutic

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

thera|peu|tic /ˌθerəˈpjʊtɪk/ BrE AmE adjective[Date: 1500-1600; Language: Greek; Origin: therapeutikos, from therapeuein; ⇒ †therapy]

1. making you feel calm and relaxed:

" I find swimming very therapeutic.

" the therapeutic effect of gardening

2. [usually before noun] relating to the treatment or cure of an illness ⇒ therapy:

Some claim that the herb has therapeutic value for treating pain.

—therapeutically /-kli/ *adverbtherapeutic

Freakuency Pack

12500 6446<sup>MCW</sup>15000 4893<sup>COCA</sup>RANGE: 6k THERAPEUTIC 3249

therapeutic 3175

therapeutically 74

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

1910 9755<sup>3175</sup> jj