

turmoil[ˈtʊːmɔɪl] n

беспорядок, смятение; шум, суматоха

racial turmoil - расовые беспорядки

mounting labour turmoil - растущие беспорядки среди рабочих

the only sign of his inner turmoil - единственный признак сумятицы чувств

to throw smth. into turmoil - ввергнуть что-л. в пучину беспорядков

these events set the whole country in turmoil - эти события всколыхнули всю страну

the whole country was in turmoil - вся страна находилась в состоянии брожения

turmoil

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

tur·moil [turmoil turmoils] BrE [ˈtʊːmɔɪl] NAme [ˈtʊːrmɔɪl] *noununcountable, singular

a state of great anxiety and confusion

Syn: ↑confusion• emotional /mental /political turmoil• His statement threw the court into turmoil .• Her mind was in (a) turmoil .

• She felt much calmer after the turmoil of recent weeks.

Word Origin:

early 16th cent.: of unknown origin.

Example Bank:

- He came to a stop, his thoughts in turmoil.
- Her emotional life was thrown into turmoil.
- Her mind was in a state of constant turmoil.
- The university had been in turmoil over anti-war protests.
- a turmoil of emotions
- His mind was in (a) turmoil.
- His statement threw the court into turmoil.
- I walked away in a state of mental turmoil.
- She hid her inner turmoil.
- The country was hurled into the turmoil of another general election.

turmoil

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

tur·moil /ˈtʊːmɔɪl/ BrE AmE noun [singular, uncountable]

a state of confusion, excitement, or anxiety

political/emotional/economic/religious etc turmoil

▪ the prospect of another week of political turmoil

in (a) turmoil

▪ Ashley gazed at him, her thoughts in turmoil.

turmoil

Freakuency Pack

12500 6678^{MCW}15000 4930^{COCA}RANGE: 6k TURMOIL 3201

turmoil 3181

turmoils 20

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

2720 9767³¹⁷² *nn1*8 277759⁹ nnu