

mole

I

[məʊl] n
 родинка; родимое пятно; бородавка

II

[məʊl] n
 1. зоол. крот (Talpa europaea)
 2. pl = moleskin
 3. горнопроходческая машина (особ. для бурения туннелей)
 ◇ as blind as a mole - слепой как крот

II

[məʊl] n
 мол; дамба

IV

[məʊl] n
 1) хим. моль, грамм-молекула
 2) физ. моль (единица количества вещества)

V

[məʊl] n
 агент, внедрившийся в иностранную разведку to plant a mole - внедрить агента /шпиона/to run a mole - руководить работой /«вести»/ тайного агента

mole

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

mole [mole moles] BrE [məʊl] [ⓘ] NAmE [moʊl] [ⓘ] noun

1. a small animal with dark grey fur, that is almost blind and digs tunnels under the ground to live in see also ↑molehill
2. a small dark brown mark on the skin, sometimes slightly higher than the skin around it compare ↑freckle
3. a person who works within an organization and secretly passes important information to another organization or country
4. (chemistry) a unit for measuring the amount of substance

Word Origin:

sense 1 and sense 3 late Middle English Germanic Middle Dutch Middle Low German mol sense 2 Old English māl 'discoloured spot' Germanic sense 4 early 20th cent. German Mol Molekul Latin molecula Latin moles 'mass'

Example Bank:

- They suspected that a mole had been planted in the organization.
- A police mole working inside the company had supplied them with the details.

mole

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

mole /məʊl $ moʊl/ BrE [ⓘ] AmE [ⓘ] noun [countable]

1. a small dark furry animal which is almost blind. Moles usually live under the ground.
2. a small dark brown mark on the skin that is slightly higher than the skin around it
3. someone who works for an organization while secretly giving information to its enemies

mole

Freakuency Pack

12500 6855^{MCW}
 15000 6187^{COCA}
 RANGE: 5k MOLE 2045
 mole 1539
 moles 506
 COCA 500k Unlemmatized
 707 16199¹⁵¹² nn1
 14 214559¹⁴ vv0
 6 229336¹³ np1