

- blip
1. [blɪp] n
 1. радио отражённое изображение или выброс сигнала (на экране)
 2. элк. оптическая поисковая метрика (на экране)
 2. [blɪp] v
 1. радио появиться на экране (о сигнале)
 2. ав. жарг. идти на контакте
 3. тлв. исключать часть звучания из видеозаписи

swearwords were blipped by a sensor - по требованию цензора бранные слова были выброшены blip Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed. blip [blɪp blɪps blɪpɪd blɪpɪŋ] BrE [blɪp] ^ˈ NAmE [blɪp] ^ˈ noun

1. a change in a process or situation, usually when it gets worse for a short time before it gets better; a temporary problem
 - a temporary blip
2. a short high sound made by an electronic device
3. a small flashing point of light on a [↑]radar screen, representing an object

Word Origin:

late 19th cent. (denoting a sudden rap or tap): imitative; the noun sense 'unexpected deviation' dates from the 1970s.

blip Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)
blip /blɪp/ BrE ^ˈ AmE ^ˈ noun [countable]

[Date: 1800-1900; Origin: From the sound of a sudden light hit]

1. a short high electronic sound, or a flashing light on the screen of a piece of electronic equipment:
 - blips on a radar screen
2. a short pause or change in a process or activity, especially when the situation gets worse for a while before it improves again:
 - A government spokesman described the rise in inflation as a temporary blip.

blip Freaquency Pack

12500 7906^{MCW}

15000 9312^{COCA}

RANGE: 6k BLIP 825

blip 587

blips 200

blipped 25

blipping 13

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

457 30603⁵³⁷ nn1

29 135312³³ vv0

6 348074⁶ np1

5 357697⁶ vvi

5 386881⁵ nnu