

vineyard

['vɪnjəd] n
виноградник

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

vineyard

vine·yard ['vineyard vineyards] BrE ['vɪnjəd] AmE ['vɪnjərd] noun

a piece of land where ↑grapes are grown in order to produce wine; a business that produces wine from the ↑grapes it grows in a vineyard

compare ↑winery

Example Bank:

- Dutch settlers planted the first vineyard when they arrived in 1652.

vineyard

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

vine·yard /'vɪnjəd $ -jərd/ BrE AmE noun [countable]

a piece of land where ↑grapevines are grown in order to produce wine

• • •

THESAURUS

- grape one of a number of small round green or purple fruits that grow together on a ↑vine. Grapes are often used for making wine: I've brought you a bunch of grapes. | Different grape varieties produce wines of widely different character.
- vine (also grapevine) a plant that produces grapes: There are 2,000 acres of vines in England, compared with 2.6 million in France. | He left the grapes on the vine as long as possible — sometimes even late into October.
- vineyard a piece of land where grapevines are grown in order to produce wine: The wine is from one of Germany's most famous vineyards.

vineyard

Freakuency Pack

12500 8662^{MCW}

15000 6062^{COCA}

RANGE: 9k VINEYARD ²¹²⁹

vineyard ¹²⁰³

vineyards ⁹²⁶

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

571 18787¹²⁰³ nn1