syntax

I

[ˈsɪntæks] n

   1. грам. синтаксис

    the syntax of a language [of a sentence] - синтаксис какого-л. языка [предложения]

   2. лог. синтаксис (тж. logical syntax)

   3. филос. связанная система, порядок

II

[ˈsɪntæks] n муз.

   синтекс (гибрид электрогитары и синтезатора)

   [synthesizer + axe]

---

syntax

syn·tax BrE [ˈsɪntæks]   NAmE [ˈsɪntæks]   noun uncountable

  1. (linguistics) the way that words and phrases are put together to form sentences in a language; the rules of grammar for this

    compare ↑morphology

  2. (computing) the rules that state how words and phrases must be used in a computer language

   • The instructions were not carried out because of a syntax error.

   Word Origin:

   [syntax] late 16th cent.: from French syntaxe, or via late Latin from Greek suntaxis, from sun- 'together' + tassein 'arrange'.

---

syntax

syn‧tax /ˈsɪntæks/ BrE   AmE   noun [uncountable] technical

  [Date: 1500-1600; Language: French; Origin: syntaxe, from Late Latin syntaxis, from Greek, from syntassein 'to arrange together', from syn- (⇒ ↑syn-) + tassein 'to arrange']

  1. the way words are arranged to form sentences or phrases, or the rules of grammar which control this

  2. the rules that describe how words and phrases are used in a computer language

---

syntax

  125008828^MCW

  1500010002^COCA

  RANGE: 11k SYNTAX 684

   syntax 680

   syntaxes 4

  COCA 500k Unlemmatized

   47426652^680 nn1