

amenable[əˈmiːnəb(ə)] a*1. послушный, сговорчивый

amenable to discipline - подчиняющийся дисциплине

amenable to reason - слушающий голос разума

winningly amenable - подкупающе сговорчивый

2. (to)1) книжн. ответственный(перед чем-л., кем-л.)*2) подлежащий (чему-л.)

data amenable to analysis - данные, подлежащие анализу /изучению/

my discoveries are amenable to the usual tests - мои открытия ещё должны пройти надлежащие испытания

3. юр. ответственный(перед законом); подсудный

amenable to tribunal - подсудный трибуналу

4. поддающийся; подверженный; склонный; расположенный

amenable to flattery - падкий на лесть

amenable to kindness - отзывчивый на доброту

amenable to advice - прислушивающийся к совету

amenable to the touch - осязаемый на ощупь

amenable

Oxford Advanced Learners Dictionary 8th Ed.

amen-able BrE [əˈmiːnəbəl] ¹ NAmE [əˈmiːnəbəl] ¹ adjective*1. (of people) easy to control; willing to be influenced by sb/sth

• They had three very amenable children.

• ~ to sth He seemed most amenable to my idea.2. ~ to sth (formal) that you can treat in a particular way

• 'Hamlet' is the least amenable of all Shakespeare's plays to being summarized.

Word Origin:[amenable] late 16th cent. (in the sense 'liable to answer to a law or tribunal'): an Anglo-Norman French legal term, from Old French amener 'bring to' from a- (from Latin ad) 'to' + mener 'bring' (from late Latin minare 'drive animals', from Latin minari 'threaten').Example Bank:

• You should find him amenable to reasonable arguments.

• The manager was very amenable: nothing was too much trouble.

amenable

Longman DOCE 5th Ed. (En-En)

a me na ble /əˈmiːnəbəl $ əˈmiːnəˈmen-/ BrE ¹ AmE ¹ adjective

[Date: 1500-1600; Language: Old French; Origin: amener 'to lead up', from mener 'to lead']

1. willing to accept what someone says or does without arguing:

" She was always a very amenable child.

amenable to

" Young people are more amenable than older citizens to the idea of immigration.

2. suitable for a particular type of treatmentamenable for/to

" Such conditions may be amenable to medical intervention.

amenable

Freakuency Pack

12500 9529^{MCW}15000 10157^{COCA}RANGE: 7k AMENABLE ⁶⁵⁷amenable ⁶⁵⁷amenably ⁰

COCA 500k Unlemmatized

604 27202⁶⁵⁷ jj